Cantaloupe is showcasing its full suite of Smart Retail innovations at the 2025 NAMA Show, May 7-9. Cantaloupe's new Smart Aisle and Go Micro are two of the products out of a full suite of Smart Store options that will be on display and available for demonstrations.

frictionless retail experience that operates without an attendant, relying instead on 3D cameras, AI, and weighted-shelf technology to analyze motion and keep track of transactions. Customers provide a payment method to enter, and while inside they can grab any item, which is added to their virtual cart in real time. Customers verify their cart before leaving, and the transaction is completed and payment method charged upon exit.

"As consumer expectations continue to evolve, we're seeing a clear demand for smarter, more seamless retail experiences," said Elyssa Steiner, chief marketing officer of Cantaloupe, Inc. "What we are highlighting with the Smart Aisle, and across our entire solution set, is that we're helping operators meet those expectations and unlock new revenue opportunities in any location."

In Cantaloupe's booth, guests will experience a complete lineup of smart solutions, including the Smart Store 700 Duo, Smart Store 600 Duo, the Cooler Café, its modern micro market offerings including the Go Micro, Go Plus100 and Go Max kiosks, card readers for the U.S., Mexico, U.K. and Europe, and Seed software products and other Cantaloupe services that will be available for viewing and hands-on demonstrations.

Throughout the show in the North Lobby, NAMA attendees can visit the Social Hub located across from the registration desk, hosted by Cantaloupe and the recently launched Vine Digital Studio, a full-service marketing platform dedicated to self-service and convenience businesses. The Social Hub experience will include a unique photo opportunity and a chance to learn more about Vine's strategic digital marketing solutions designed for operator growth.

Cantaloupe will also be displaying its self-service payment solutions throughout the show floor in several partner booths. HABCO will feature a Cooler Café unit with Cantaloupe's P30 card reader and Smart Lock connect technology; AVS will highlight the Go Micro kiosk and a lineup of Cantaloupe card readers; IDW will showcase the Go MiniX and a Cooler Café unit; ID TECH will display the Go Plus100 kiosk and Imbera will show the Go MiniX kiosk equipped with the P30 card reader.

Lastly, Cantaloupe will provide demonstrations of its latest product releases within the Seed software suite, including powerful new tools that bring AI into operators' everyday platform experience. Attendees can also witness the efficiency of Cantaloupe's Remote Price change tool at an in-booth activation station. Remote Price Change allows operators to change prices for their entire vending machine fleet in minutes without visiting a single location — saving significant time and effort while maximizing revenue.

"We invite operators to experience the future of self-service with us at NAMA as our team continues to introduce innovative technology and robust services that drive the self-service industry forward," noted Steiner. "With our complete set of solutions, Cantaloupe can be the single partner to help operators optimize and grow their business."
